

VRINGO PROVIDES LITIGATION UPDATE IN BRAZIL AND ROMANIA AGAINST ZTE

06/29/15

Additional Updates on SDNY Litigation and Corporate Matters

NEW YORK -June 29, 2015- Vringo, Inc. (NASDAQ: VRNG), a company engaged in the innovation, development and monetization of intellectual property, today provided an update on enforcement actions in Brazil and Romania against ZTE, as well as an update in its SDNY litigation and corporate matters.

Brazil

Since April 15, 2014, through a preliminary injunction requested by Vringo, ZTE has been restrained from commercializing 3G and 4G infrastructure technology in Brazil. Since that date, ZTE has unsuccessfully sought to have the injunction overturned more than ten times. On June 24, 2015, the reporting appellate judge denied ZTE's latest request to overturn the injunction, rejecting a new interlocutory appeal, which requested an ex parte preliminary injunction in order to, upon payment of a bond, lift the original injunction.

In addition, the trial court which issued the original injunction against ZTE ordered both parties to file briefs regarding the report by a court-appointed expert on the raid conducted at ZTE's Headquarters in São Paulo, which confirmed that ZTE violated the injunction. Vringo filed a brief on June 24, 2015 requesting further enforcement measures to secure ZTE's compliance with the injunction, and asking the court to order ZTE to pay an accumulated daily fine of R$ 8,080,000-approximately $2.5 million-for ZTE's violation of the injunction. Vringo expects a decision by the 5th Business Trial Court of Rio de Janeiro shortly.

Romania

Since June 30, 2014, through a preliminary injunction requested by Vringo, ZTE Romania has been restrained from commercializing any 4G/LTE mobile phone or infrastructure equipment manufactured by ZTE Corporation which incorporates 4G/LTE technology. Since that date, ZTE Romania has unsuccessfully sought to have the injunction overturned seven times. On June 19, 2015, ZTE Romania's latest attempt, a motion to cancel the January 8, 2015 decision which confirmed the preliminary injunction granted to Vringo against ZTE Romania and others, alleging that the Court made a material error when issuing that decision, was denied by the Bucharest Court of Appeal.

In addition, based on documents recently obtained by Vringo, Vringo is currently investigating whether ZTE Romania and its retailers have breached the preliminary injunction. Vringo is currently assessing the legal remedies available to cure any violation.

United States - SDNY Litigation

On June 23, 2015, the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York granted Vringo's motions to de-designate ZTE's responses to discovery requests, including those that reference ZTE's communications with the National Resources Development Counsel ("NDRC") of the People's Republic of China, as "Highly Confidential - Attorneys Eyes Only - US Only".

The Court's ruling will allow Vringo to participate more effectively in its breach of contract case against ZTE, in which the Court has already held that ZTE breached a non-disclosure agreement signed between the parties in December 2013. ZTE may request that these communications remain confidential by July 6.

In addition, the Court referred Vringo's motion, seeking sanctions against ZTE for its failure to produce certain documents in discovery, to Magistrate Judge Maas. Vringo anticipates that a hearing on this issue will be scheduled soon.

Corporate Matters

On Friday, June 26, 2015 Vringo filed a S-3 shelf registration statement due to the fact that Vringo's effective shelf registration, which is currently in place, was set to expire on August 2, 2015.
